1. This policy relates only to pregnancy/maternity/paternity and/or medical disability related absence from chiropractic practice. This policy will be available, at the Registrar's discretion, for Nova Scotia College of Chiropractors (NSCC) members requiring leave from their chiropractic practice for a maximum of twelve (12) months. After twelve (12) months pregnancy/maternity/paternity or medical disability leave, members must switch to Full Non-Practicing status and are required to meet Chiropractic Regulation 13(1).
2. Members are required to complete mandatory CE requirements as stated in Chiropractic Regulation 35. Chiropractic Regulation 13(1) will apply for members exceeding the twelve (12) month maximum as of the date that membership has changed to Full Non-Practising.
3. Following completion of the NSCC application form and written verification by an independent health care professional, members will be eligible to receive a NSCC dues credit which will be calculated on a pro-rated basis for time during which they are absent from practice. This dues credit will be applied to the member's dues for the year following return to practice and retains no cash value.
4. Full membership in the NSCC and registration with the Board of the NSCC is maintained throughout the leave period and this does not affect any other requirements of the NSCC or Board for membership/registration nor any other dues requirements.
5. Dues are prescribed by the Board of the College. Please contact the office for further information.
